

A large, multi-tiered bookshelf filled with a vast collection of music-related books. The books are arranged in rows, with some standing upright and others lying flat. The collection includes works on artists like Hendrix, Lennon, McCartney, Dylan, and many others. The books are organized by artist or genre, with some sections dedicated to specific bands or eras. The shelves are densely packed with books, creating a rich visual display of musical history and biography.

info@spondergallery.com